Stamats and Employees Help Hurricane Victims

Cedar Rapids, IA, October 6, 2017: This hurricane season has been particularly brutal with Harvey, Irma and Maria causing widespread devastation in its wake and leaving many people with their homes severely damaged and even destroyed. Stamats' president and CEO, Guy Wendler noted, "In 2008, we had a major flood in Cedar Rapids which caused significant damage to our headquarters facility. We know what it's like to be flooded."

In response, Stamats employees launched a fund-raiser for victims of 2017 hurricanes with Stamats agreeing to match employee contributions on a dollar-for-dollar basis. As a result of this effort $2,050 was raised and will be donated to the National Relief Network, an organization which helps people rebuild their homes. Says Wendler, "We were grateful for those who helped us in our time of need and are pleased that we can now do the same for others."

About National Relief Network

The National Relief Network (NRN) is an organization committed to bringing large numbers of volunteers to state and federally declared disaster areas for the purpose of helping families in their efforts to rebuild their homes, their communities, and their lives. NRN administers volunteer relief programs for organizations such as churches, youth groups, corporations, colleges, universities and high schools. The NRN makes it possible for many organizations, who may not have the necessary resources or access to an organized group relief effort, to lend a helping hand. NRN makes its resources available to any group who wants to stand up and make a difference.
